Using an open-access blog, in-press and new publications are listed with links to their abstract and other information. The most recent 45 days are shown, with past listings available in monthly archive files.

There is no advertising and no commercial sponsorship.

The articles and books are selected based on recency, availability of an English language abstract, and relevance to pediatric pain by Dr. Anna Huguet and Dr. Carl von Baeyer. Six very recent and forthcoming books are listed in the 17 December entry.

Please bookmark www.childpain.org/recentpubs and visit regularly.

We are hoping to add optional RSS news feed functionality to this site. Meanwhile, bookmark the site for reference.
